

Nicolas Schuybroek

Over the years, Nicolas Schuybroek has already accumulated an impressive portfolio with several unique and iconic realisations, both on national and international scale. One of these realisations is B Apartment in Paris. The goal of this project was to restore the original spirit and charm of the building, which is located in the sixteenth arrondissement of the city. A lot of time and attention was dedicated to establishing the right volumes and incidence. Moreover, in order to regain a balanced atmosphere, Schuybroek chose to create an airy division of the apartment. Characterising for the designer is his ability to combine raw elements with delicacy; in this case, he did so by carefully selecting the furniture and artwork. Concerning the materials used, the most prominent choices include wood, steel and natural stone, which converge beautifully in terms of colour and texture.
